Choir Members Tour Camp

made of wood, one on top of the other, about the size for one person per bed to sleep comfortably. Yet, twelve people were in each bunk, which meant four people to a bed. How was this possible? Two people in each bed would lay down and sleep while the other two would sit up and kill the bothersome insects. More than likely, rest was not a common thing for the prisoners at Stutthof.

The Germans executed their prisoners-in many ways. Some were hung, others shot, others beaten, and still others faced the gas chamber. In any rate, they were usually all burned in large ovens inside the Krematory. However, in some cases, because of the great quantity of dead prisoners, they would pile them up, sometimes as many as a thousand at a time, in a deep gorge, and burn them. Before burning the prisoners, the Germans would take the gold and silver fillings from their enemies' teeth. Also, they cut all the hair off of the women to use for mops.

Cruelty seemed to be the main objective in the Stutthof Camp. Sometimes prisoners were led to believe they were digging a grave for one of their friends.

As soon as the grave was finished, they were shot, and fell into what was their own grave. In 1944, things started to look a slight bit better. The Germans allowed the prisoners to write home once a week. In 1945, they were even allowed to have a celebration of Christmas, but it was too good to be true. A 16 year old boy was found making lights for the Christmas Tree. He was immediately accused of sabotage and on Christmas Day he was hung right beside the Christmas Tree.

Before leaving the camp, the choir walked quietly in a small procession to a huge monument which had been constructed in honor of the prisoners who lost their lives. Here, they presented a wreath from the United States, and sang Amazing Grace in remembrance of all the brave prisoners of teh Stutthof POW Camp. The Liberty Youth Singers experienced something in this camp that they will long remember, and are now well aware and more thankful of the freedom we have in America.

Driver Retires

got in and cranked the thing up, but he rushed the engine so much that he threw a connecting rod through the block and I still had to push him, without the benefit of his engine."

Another instance recalled by Beale involved a member of a fox hunting party. The motorist was stuck on a down hill slope when Beale's bus came up behind him. The driver of the car asked for a push, but was so proud of his new Pontiac that he didn't want the bus to scratch the bumper.

"Well, says Beale, "I eased the bus up against his car and he got in and started the engine. I was so close to him that I couldn't tell he had the car running and the first thing I know he has pulled away from me and is gone. The driver stopped later and inspected his car and offered to pay me for giving him a push without damaging his car. He would not believe that I never did push him at all, that he got out of the mud under his own power."

During the 1960s Beale drove from Pamplin City to Appomattox on his regular route and ran the cannery in Appomattox while waiting to make his return trip.

The experience must have been good for the retired bus driver. He runs the School Community Cannery in Pamplin City and says he intends to run it as long as they will let him.

"I don't know of any retirement age for running the cannery, so I play to stay on here for some time," Beale says.

To Robert Clayton Beale of Pamplin City, a job well done, and may he continue many years at his chosen occupation.
